ALEXANDRIA GAZETTE

-1881-

The ALEXANDRIA GAZETTE, begun in 17.9, is the oldest newspaper in the State, and the only daily published in Northern Virginia. It has survived, with few exceptions, all the public presses in America which saw with it the dawn of the mineteenth century. It lives, too, not in decay, but full of life and vigor, giving all the news, telling the truth without fear, favor or affection, trenching on the privacy of no man's home, but full to the brim with all public information, and giving daily honast in lyments of public men and public measures.

it famishes the news telegrams of the New April 9, 1878, York Associated Press and of Reutor's European agency, being, with but three exceptions, the only paper between Bultimers and Richmond that is thus connected with the groat fount-ins of the

With the coming year all the long trial and unproved methods of making a stanfar! newspaper will be continued, with such additional facilities as past experience justifies the proprietor in balleving will sill to the capacity of the Gazatta to serve its realists. It expects to rea der faithful service to the city, the state and the country by a condid criticism of men and events in the interest of the people of the Commonwealth of Virginia.

To meet all the damands upon it, the Gazette will be made a WASHINGTON and RICH. MOND NEWSPAPER IS WILLIAM CROM ANDRIA JOURNAL. The Richmond and Washington news of past years has lafe little to improve, but yet greater effort will be made to insure absolute parfection in these departments,

The city of Alexandria will find as usual its daily history in each evening's issue, and the intelligence of that section of the Common wealth which nature has bound to Alexandria by the curvature of its mountains or the courses of its rivers as well as that portion linked to us by the iron banda of railways, will be sailduously

The Business and Commercial columns of the Gazette will be filled with the carliest and most eract commercial news, edite! with such painstaking care as will render an error, where even slight errors are dangerous, impossible.

The Cattle Markets of all the leading points of the world whose rates affect this market will be quoted, and regular statements of the Baltimore, Georgetown, Washington and Alexandria sales of cattle will sppear.

The Flour, Grain and Produce movements will be noted daily, and the sales of the Alexandria and neighboring markets given with accuree; and dispatch. The Grocery and other marke's will receive constant attention, and the money or stock markets of the country epito. m'zed for its columns, full details being given to all stocks, &c, which find investors in this section of the country.

The advertising columns of the Gezette offer inducaments which experie see has shown to sfford greater returns for a small lave-tment than sny other which ein be made

CHRISTMAS BALLAD AT BRENGLE'S No. 129 King st. Mary had a little cake,

Its ice was white as snow : 'Twas fair to see and sweet to taste, For Brengle makes them se. Sha took the cake to school one day ;

It was against the rule; For children all love Brengle's cakes And take a bite in school. And so the teacher took the cake

And cat it on the sly; And after school, with spleam face, She told the child a lic. She said the mice had cat the cake

And thought it very nica; That all of them that tested it Had turned to candy mice. The candy mice the windows thow

And tempt the boys to break, Were just the very little mice That nibble i Mary's cake.

But Mary was not fooled at all.
"Too thin," was all she spake,
The teacher quick to Brangle's skipped
And bought another cake. And Brengle has lets of such Cakes on hand for Christmas. Looking for a Wife. Sakii Kumara, the here of a curious Hisdustani story, preferred testing a damsel's capablily before tying the not. Master of a presperous and prefitable business, he came to the encelusion that a wife was wanted to complate his happiness, and determined to go in section of one. Adopting the guise of a fortune teller, and currying some rice bound up in his cloth, he scarted on his travels. Whenever he encountered a girl that pleased his eye he asked her to cook his ries for him. Some laughed at him, some reviled him and none seemed inclined to comply with his modest de-mend.

At last he mat a beautiful girl, who, instead of ridiculing or abusing the strange traveler, relieved him of the ries and bade him to be rested. Then the kindly maiden set about preparing the rice. First she steeped it is water, then dried it in the sun, and, that accomplished, rubbed the graics gontly on the ground, removing the awn without breaking the ries. Calling her curse she despatched that worthy to sell the bran and with the precededs to purchase an earthen boiler, two platters and some fuel. By the time this commission was executed the rice had been trayed in a mortar, winnowed and washed and ready to put in the boiler with five times its bulk of water. As soon as it had swollen sufficiently the boiler was taken from the fire, the water cleared of the scum, the boiler put back, and the rice constantly stirred by the pretty cook until sho was satisfied it was properly dose. By turning the boiler mouth downward the extinguished the fire, and collecting the unconsumed fuel despatched the old woman to convert it into butter, curds, oil and tamarinds. This achieved, she told the raptured sakii Tumara to go and batha and not to omit rubbing himself with oil. Having obeyed orders the wilescoker mediated and the sakii rubbing himself with oil. ders, the wife-seeker was directed to seat himself upon a plank on the well-swept floor, on which wore sleendy laid a large plaintain leaf and two platiers. His charming hosters then brought him water in a perfumed jug and administered two spoonfuls of well seasoned rice and shee, preparatory to serving up the remainder of the rice mixed with spices, curds, butter and milk, Live, and can with confidence recommend it dulged in a siesta. As soon as he woke he asked as a very superior article in all particulars, and the girl to become his wife, and she being willing the necessary coremony was gone through with-out delay, and the supposed fortunteller took his bride home to astonish her as the Lord of Bur-leigh astonished his rustic love, but the Hindu lass was luckier than Tennyson's beroine, for wasre assured that she lived long to worship er husband as a god and made her house the abode of blis - Chamber's Journal,
